GRADUATION TIME HERE

SEVEN SCHOOLS CLOSING TOMORROW AND FRIDAY.

4 MORE NEXT WEEK

Measles Interfere With Activities at Conception Junction—The Programs.

Class plays, class day exercises, social activities, class sermons and commencement programs mark the close of a number of town schools in Nodaway county this week and next.

The schools of the county closing on Thursday and Friday of this week are Skidmore, Quitman, Guilford, Ravenwood, Barnard, Elmo, Gaynor, and Conception, Graham and Clyde.

The schools at Clearmont, Burlington Junction, Pickering and Maryville will close next week.

The commencement exercises for the ten graduates of the public school at Conception Junction will be held tomorrow night at the Pastime Theatre. Judge John M. Dawson will be the speaker. The class play, scheduled for tonight, and other planned class activities were postponed, due to several cases of measles. All public affairs have been prohibited with the exception of the commencement program.

Chilton Skidmore Speaker.

The commencement exercises for the eighth grade graduates of Skidmore will be held tomorrow night. The program and presentation of diplomas for the high school graduates will be held at the M. E. Church Friday night. The Rev. C. M. Chilton of St. Joseph will address the class.

The Rev. Guy L. Prather, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, will address the graduates of the Quitman high school at the commencement program to be held tomorrow night at the M. E. Church.

A junior and senior banquet will be given tonight as a part of the class week activities for the Guilford high school. The eighth graduation will be held at the M. E. Church and L. G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, will award diplomas to sixteen pupils. The Rev. W. S. Woodhull will be the commencement speaker at the exercises Friday night for the high school. Fourteen students will be graduated.

"The Kingdom of Heart's Content," is the title of the class play given by the Elmo high school tomorrow night. The commencement program will be Friday night. Harry A. Miller of Anderson, Mo., will be the speaker.

Gaynor Exercises Last Night.

Five schools graduated pupils from the eighth grade at the commencement held last night at Gaynor. The schools were Gaynor, Maple Grove, Snow Ball, Happy Hollow and Oak Grove. The Gaynor high school class play, "Cinderella O'Reilly," will be presented Thursday and Friday nights.

The Rev. John E. Evans of Farmer City, Ill., will address the graduates of the Ravenwood high school tomorrow night. The commencement will be held in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The valedictory will be given by Hazel Row and the salutatory by Ruby Lockhart.

Eighteen pupils of the Fox, Davis, Harmon and Barnard schools were graduated from the eighth grade last night at Barnard.

The class night program for the Barnard senior class will be presented tomorrow night. The program follows:

Class chorus.
Class Statistics, Beatrice Daniels.
Piano solo, Josephine Sherman.
Class Will, George Hargrave.
Violin solo, Ruth Cook.
Reading, Bessie Gilbert.
Class prophecy, Herman Stalling.
Witches scene from Macbeth:
First witch, Fern Dougan.
Second witch, Bessie Bare.

EARLY GROCER HERE IS DEAD

ROBERT KING TOWNSEND DIES IN OKLAHOMA AT 91.

BODY TO KANSAS CITY

Cremation to Take Place Tomorrow Morning—County Judge From 1886 to 1890.

Robert King Townsend, 91 years old, a former resident of Maryville and father of E. L. Townsend of this city, died yesterday at the home of his son, Hal Townsend, in El Reno, Okla., after an illness of several months. Mr. Townsend moved April 1 to the home of his son in El Reno on account of failing health.

The body will be taken to Kansas City for cremation, which will take place Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The ashes will be removed to Oklahoma City for interment.

Mr. Townsend was born in Galena, Ill., on Oct. 27, 1836. His father, Halstead S. Townsend, settled in Daviess County, Illinois, in 1832 and represented that district in the state legislature for a number of years. R. K. Townsend was reared in his native state, and was educated at Mount Carroll Seminary in Illinois. In 1860 he moved to Waterloo, Ia., and engaged in the mercantile business, remaining there for eight years, when he came to Maryville and was engaged in the retail grocery business for twenty years. His store here was located at the corner of Third and Buchanan street.

Mr. Townsend served as presiding judge of the county court of this county for four years, from 1886 to 1890. He moved to San Antonio, Texas, in 1893, living there for about two years, and later moved to Oklahoma City, where he had lived for the past twenty-five years.

Mr. Townsend was married Sept. 29, 1858, to Miss Arabelle Howarter. He is survived by his widow and two sons, all of whom were with him at the time of his death. He is survived also by the following brothers and sisters: Sam Townsend, Mrs. C. D. Hooker and Mrs. S. J. Manley, all of Maryville; John Townsend, Stockton, Ill.; Mrs. Della Osborn, Pueblo, Colo.; and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Kansas City.

Among those who will attend the funeral in Kansas City tomorrow are: Mrs. E. L. Townsend, Mrs. L. Michau, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Townsend, Mrs C. D. Hooker, Mr and Mrs. Hal Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Townsend of Maryville; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Chamberlin of Albany.

Tax Reduction Bill Temporarily Aside

Washington, May 9.—The tax reduction bill was temporarily laid aside and the conference report on the flood control bill taken up today in the Senate.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, co-author of the flood control bill, secured a unanimous consent agreement for immediate consideration of the conference report.

Predicts a Hoover Victory in New York

New York, May 9.—The showing of Herbert Hoover in Indiana against a "political machine stronger than Tammany Hall" should clinch the situation for Hoover in New York, William H. Hill, chairman of the Hoover organization in New York state, said today.

"His showing in Indiana will, I predict, lead to the finest harmony in the history of New York Republicans.

HEALTH DAY IS SATURDAY

186 CHILDREN OF COUNTY TO RECEIVE BUTTONS.

PARADE AND PROGRAM

Several Schools to Take Part in Event Here to Be Made Annual and County Wide.

Nodaway county's Health Day will be Saturday, it was announced today by the county health department and the committee chairman working with the health department.

One hundred and eighty-six children in the county will receive buttons for perfection in the six vital points in health hygiene. The six-point movement is a national one and is five years old. It is two years old in this county.

The children are examined by the health department and it is as a result of these examinations that the buttons are awarded.

The health day exercises will be opened with a parade. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon a program will be held in the courthouse yard. Maryville schools will be included among those on the program. Myrtle Tree will give a May pole dance and Martha Washington will give a health play.

The health day is the beginning of a health "round-up" in the county. Free clinics will be held in fourteen towns in the county in June and it is the aim of the department to examine every child who will enter school for the first time next fall. A specialist from the state health department will come to assist in holding the clinics.

It is the hope of Dr. C. P. Fryer, head of the county health department, to make six-point day an outstanding annual event in Nodaway county.

Among the organizations that probably will take part in the parade will be the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

PILOT KILLED IN PLANE THAT MADE RECORD

Royal Thomas, Endurance Record Holder, and an Engineer Crushed When Craft Plunges to Earth

Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., May 9.—Lieut. Royal V. Thomas, who set a new endurance record for solo airplane flights a week ago, and Vaughn Weatherly, aeonautical engineer, were killed today when the Bellanca airplane in which they were making a speed test crashed on the Teterboro Golf Club.

Thomas, a member of the reserve flying corps of the army, was one of the outstanding pilots in the East. His solo endurance record, eclipsing Col. Charles A. Lindberg's was made over Long Island while attempting to take the world endurance record away from George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson.

Thomas and Weatherly had taken off from Teterboro Airport across the highway from the golf club. They were flying low in the same plane in which Thomas had set his solo record when the plane turned over several times, and then plunged down.

It struck the earth tail first. The bodies of the two fliers were crushed and officials from the airport experienced difficulty extricating them from the wreckage.

Given Heavy Penalty for Disturbing Peace

John Horn of Elmo Is Fined $100 and Gets Sentence of Three Months in County Jail.

John Horn of Elmo today was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the county jail when he pleaded guilty in circuit court of disturbing the peace. He was charged with disturbing the peace of his mother, Mrs. Martha Horn, who is elderly, and creating a disturbance in the home, where his father is in poor health.

Senate Adopts Flood Control Compromise

Washington, May 9.—The conference report on the $325,000,000 compromise flood control bill understood to have the approval of President Coolidge, was accepted today by the Senate.

The bill now goes to the White House for signature. The House gave its final approval yesterday.

Alabama Anti-Smith Delegates Victorious

Montgomery, Ala., May 9.—Dry anti-Al Smith delegates to the Democratic national convention scored a sweeping victory in Alabama's state-wide primary Tuesday, returns indicated today.

Only one place on the delegation of jr., foe of the klan, who publicly denounced Senator Thomas J. Heflin, was leading T. S. Faulk, an anti-Smith candidate, by 570 votes.

"Dry" Democrats in Control in Texas

State's Forty Votes in Convention to Be Cast Against Smith or Any Other "Wet."

Dallas, Tex., May 9.—Dry Democrats will control the state Democratic convention at Beaumont May 22, making it apparent that Texas' forty votes to the national Democratic convention at Houston next month will be cast against Governor Al Smith of New York and any other wet presidential aspirants.

Returns tabulated today from yesterday's county conventions indicated that a majority of the 818 delegates to the state convention had either been instructed to support a dry plank in the party platform or to oppose all wet candidates.

PRIORITY TO FEW CLAIMS

AFFECTS BIG DEPOSITS

Special Judge Declares Common Claimants Are Entitled to Consideration.

Common claimants of defunct banks are due some consideration, special Judge John A. Gerlash of Tarkio, acting judge in cases involving the Real Estate Bank of Maryville, said today in circuit court in denying most of the claims for priority.

The claims for priority payment of the city of Maryville, Polk township and Maryville school district were denied and listed as common claims by Judge Gerlash. However, exceptions were filed and notices of motions for re-hearings were given.

Judge Gerlash heard evidence in several of the priority claims late last summer. He had been unable to return here before today to render his decisions because he has been recovering from an operation at Rochester, Minn. The bank closed May 13, 1926.

A few of the claims called today were passed for decision until this afternoon.

The only large claim to be given priority payment was the $2,500 time certificate of the water department of the city of Maryville.

Priority Claims Denied.

Claims for priority against the Real Estate bank were denied as follows:

C. D. Koch, draft for $25 and $2.50 protest fees.

Ladies Auxiliary of the Seth Ray David post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, draft for $6.75.

Fred W. Smith, draft for $8.

Nodaway Lodge No. 470, A. F. & A. M., draft for $16.78 and $2.50 protest fees.

Nina Bingaman, secretary of the Garment Workers Association, draft for $5.70.

Mrs. E. W. Barrock, draft for $2.01.

Morris Plan company of St. Joseph, George C. Toel, treasurer, draft for $18.

Mercantile Trust company of St. Louis, a correspondent bank, $123.09 claimed due as balance on cashier's check and $2.50 check.

Arch K. Frank, city treasurer, deposit of $11,500.

Polk township, deposit of $5,862.81.

School district of Maryville, deposit of $7,344.35.

Ed T. Godsey, $566.63 claimed as special deposit.

All the foregoing claims were allowed as common claims.

Several Given Priority.

The claims allowed for priority payment:

National Farm Policy Is Urged Upon C. of C.

Still at Sea, Says North Dakotan.—Another Speaker Attacks Local and State Taxes.

Washington, May 9.—A plea for cooperation between industry and agriculture in the formation of a national farm policy was made today by Roy Johnson, North Dakota farmer, to the 16th Annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"We have developed in this country a national banking policy, a national labor policy, a tariff policy in the interest of manufacturing, a military policy, and just recently a radio policy, but in the case of agriculture, where a national policy has been needed for years, we still are at sea," Johnson said.

Emphasizing that state and local taxes are in the aggregate larger than those collected by the federal government, Felix M. McWhirter, Indianapolis banker, urged that local business groups undertake campaigns to keep taxes at reasonable levels.

Unemployment which results from increasing efficiency rather than overproduction was characterized as a symptom of business health by Donaldson Brown, vice-president of the General Motors corporation.

SENATORS AND HOOVER CLASH

"STREET TALK," SECRETARY SAYS OF SOME QUESTIONS.

OWN EXPENSES SMALL

For Other Campaign Expenditures, Committee Is Referred to His Managers.

Washington, May 9—Questioning of Secretary of Commerce Hoover before the Senate campaign investigating committee today became so heated that at one point Hoover interrupted to ask: "Isn't this committee getting down to deal with a small type of street talk?"

Members of the committee became aroused and Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, who was conducting the examination said he had been prompted to ask searching questions by responsible authorities who gave him information.

Hoover characterized many suggestions in the questions as "slanderous," "absolutely false" and "grotesque."

Resents Questions.

Barkley asked at one time if Hoover was responsible for circulating an alleged charge in all "favorite son" states that the favorite sons were "stalking horses for some other candidate."

Hoover had manifested a growing displeasure with questions of the committee, and he retorted:

"I don't know of any such charge. Oh, my goodness, the talk that has gone on is beyond belief and has included some of a slanderous order."

"Did you demand of Senator Goff of West Virginia that his delegates name you as second choice or else you would go into West Virginia and fight him?" Barkley asked.

"There was no suggestion like that," Hoover replied.

"Did any senator call you on the telephone before you filed and ask you about that?"

"There were some negotiations going on in which six or seven men were involved. The negotiations were about the suggestion by some one that the delegates should be permitted to name a second choice if they wanted to."

Price Raising Charge "Grotesque."

Hoover denounced as "grotesque" the suggestion in one of Barkley's questions that Hoover had called chinaware manufacturers to Washington recently and agreed to help them raise prices 15 per cent.

"The Commerce Department has nothing to do with prices," Hoover said. "I don't know whether the chinaware manufacturers did meet here. I know no such suggestion could have been made."

It was at this point that Hoover remarked about the committee "getting down to street talk."

"If anyone thinks he is going to be a member of your cabinet, he is banking on optimism and not on promises?" Barkley asked at one point.

"I don't resent you asking that question, Senator, but I resent the implication of it," Hoover replied with considerable heat.

Hoover persistently declined to name the Senator who had called him with reference to the West Virginia situation.

Washington, May 9.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover told the Senate campaign investigating committee today he had made no personal expenditures to get the Republican presidential nomination.

"Unless you consider odds and ends, telephone bills and the like, I have no expenses," Hoover said. "I have not received any contributions, either."

Hoover referred the committee to his campaign treasurer, James R. Good, who, he said, would inform the committee of the contributions and expenses of the Hoover organization.

Sworn as Other Witnesses.

Hoover, although reputed to be a Quaker, was sworn as other witnesses have been. Quakers usually "affirm" instead of taking the oath.

Hoover said the only contests he made for delegates was in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia; he said he gained all his other delegates without contest.

The secretary said he was unable to say what was spent for the Indiana primary yesterday, but that Oscar Foellinger, Indiana state manager, could give the committee that information.

To Question Smith Tomorrow.

Washington, May 9.—The Senate campaign committee today notified Governor Al Smith of New York to appear before it tomorrow at 10 a. m., daylight saving time, at the Commodore Hotel in New York.

$35,414 in Reed Fund, Only $31,196 Spent

Two $5,000 Contributions by St. Louis Brewers Listed by Senator's Campaign Manager.

Washington, May 9.—The Reed-for-President organization has received $35,414 in contributions and spent $31,196.15, Ed S. Villmoare, treasurer of the organization, told the Senate campaign expenditures committee today.

The largest contributors were Otto Mathi, of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company; A. Busch of the family of St. Louis brewers and H. E. Drake of Kansas City, who gave $5,000 each.

Other contributors:

$3,000, Frank Niles, Kansas City.
$2,000, H. H. Carroll, St. Louis.
$1,500, A. M. Baldwin and Ed White.
$1,000, Fred Gardner, S. Edwards, A. Waldheim and S. Rosenfield, all of St. Louis and Charles Howell and C. J. Mann of Kansas City.

Villmoare said he had no record of expenditures in Oklahoma, Wisconsin and California. He contemplates raising no more money before the convention, he added.

THREAT MAY UNITE CHINA

NORTH CHINA WAR LORD ORDERS HALT IN FIGHTING.

AN "OUTSIDE DANGER"

Washington Less Optimistic Over Situation After Conference With Japanese Ambassador.

Washington, May 9.—Optimism over the Shantung crisis expressed earlier in the day in official circles here was swept away this afternoon following a protracted conference between Secretary Kellogg and Ambassador Matsudaira of Japan.

Whether this change was based on the disquieting news from China, where Marshal Chang Tso-Lin has ordered northern armies to stop warring against the Nationalists, or on information given the Secretary by Matsudaira, could not be learned.

Chang Orders a Halt.

Peking, May 9.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, commander-in-chief of the northern Chinese armies, tonight ordered all his troops to cease fighting, as all China was faced by "outside danger."

Chang Tso-Lin made his action known in an official statement in response to an appeal by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce for all factions to unite against Japan.

Chang's statement said that he had attempted to fight communism as a part of his campaign against the Nationalists, but that now there were other, greater dangers.

"It is highly regrettable," he said, "that foreigners should be involved in our domestic troubles."

May Unite Warring Factions.

Chang Tso-Lin's announcement, so far unsupplemented with a statement of what it implies, may furnish the answer to a long-asked question of what would happen to China's civil war if any outside nation intervened.

Chinese have said repeatedly that forcible intervention, such as that which the Japanese have begun openly, would be met by a combination of the warring Chinese armies.

Chang has been friendly to Japan. But like other northern leaders, since the beginning of the fight by the south to seize control under the slogan of China for the Chinese, he had made many strong statements regarding China's rights as affected by her relations with outside nations.

Desultory fighting continued today between the Chinese Nationalist army and the Japanese expeditionary force at Tsinan-Fu, with advices here stating that the Nationalists had evacuated the occupied zone.

Casualties were said to be small in advices from the Japanese wireless.

Much of the operations were believed to be from snipers, who have been reported active in the past forty-eight hours in the stricken territory.

Advance on Arsenal.

Tokio, May 9.—Chinese Nationalist troops, which have been fighting the Japanese expeditionary force in Shantung Province, today were officially reported to be crossing the Yellow river towards Tenchow.

There is an arsenal at Tenchow and this was believed the objective of the troops of General Chiang Kai Shek.

Seventy consular officials and other foreigners were reported to have evacuated Tsinan last night for Tsingtao by the International train.

Previously it was announced officially that Japan was sending heavy reinforcements into the Shangtung area.

The third division with five other companies will be sent into the province, it was announced. The division probably will be put at full strength for the advance to the relief of the small expeditionary force already at Tsinan.

CONCEDE IT TO WATSON

HOOVER LEADERS ADMIT DEFEAT IN INDIANA.

SHOWING REMARKABLE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 9.—United States Senator James E. Watson this afternoon was conceded Indiana's 33 delegates to the Republican national convention in a statement by Oscar Foellinger, Indiana manager for Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

Convinced by the mounting Watson total that the "favorite son's" victory in Tuesday's primary was beyond all doubt, Foellinger extended his congratulations to the Indiana Senator.

"From a standpoint of actual votes," Foellinger said, "Herbert Hoover has been defeated, but considering the fight he waged and against whom, he has won a great victory."

Watson Lead Increases.

Indianapolis, May 9.—United States Senator James E. Watson this afternoon continued to pile up what was considered a comfortable majority over Herbert Hoover in the Indiana Presidential preference primary.

With 2,793 of the state's 3,610 precincts reporting, the Watson lead was approximately 25,000. The actual vote was: Watson 153,201, Hoover 128,892.

It was Hoover's first test in the Middle West farm belt.

Senator Arthur R. Robinson gained in late reports and it appeared he had won the Republican nomination to the United States Senate. On the basis of 2,701 precincts, Robinson had 151,256 votes against 72,927 for Arthur Gilliom and 40,515 for Solon J. Carter.

Democrat Unopposed.

Evans Woollen, Indianapolis banker, unopposed for the state's endorsement of his Democratic presidential candidacy, received a total of 48,495 votes from 556 precincts.

The gubernatorial race seemed certain of going into the state convention for decision, as far as the Republicans are concerned. Under Indiana law if no candidate in the primary receives a majority, the state convention selects the candidate.

Of the seven Republican candidates for Governor, Frederick Schortmeier was slightly in the lead, closely followed by Frederick K. Landis and Thomas Adams.

Frank C. Daily was increasing his nearly 30,000 lead over John E. Frederick for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Returns were slow in coming in the races for representatives in congress and it was not possible to tell how the various districts were voting.

Hoover Held Early Lead.

During the early hours of the evening, Secretary Hoover assumed a commanding lead and at one time held a margin of more than 15,000. That lead vanished rapidly and this morning the tide turned in favor of Watson.

M. Burt Thurman, Senator Watson's campaign manager, claimed victory for Watson by a margin of 50,000. Thurman expressed the belief complete returns from the rural districts would completely overcome all additional victories Hoover might have registered in the municipalities.

Hoover leaders, however, were hopeful that the final count of the municipal balloting would give the cabinet member a margin which even a most one-sided victory in the rural sections could not overcome.

Official Count Today.

Marion county, the largest in the state, and including the vote of the state capital, Indianapolis, began it's official count at 7 a. m. today.

There were no unofficial estimates on which prediction of the county's vote might be based.

Throughout the campaign, Senator Watson looked upon the rural sections for support. It had been conceded he would carry those sections by a wide margin.

Similarly, Secretary Hoover's campaign, which had centered in the industrial cities of the north, had been expected to give him comfortable margin there.

Early tabulations were running true to predictions, and the industrial municipalities, reporting far in advance of the rural districts, gave Hoover an early lead.

4 Socialists File for State Offices

Jefferson City, Mo., May 9.—Joseph G. Hodges of Kansas City today filed his declaration as a candidate for governor on the Socialist ticket. Three Socialist Labor candidates filed their declarations for state offices.

They were, Karl Oberheu, Kansas City, for Lieutenant governor; J. W. Molineaux, Kansas City, state auditor, and Michael L. Hiltner, Kansas City, for representative in congress from the fifth congressional district.

After observing his bird's predicament Jennie's owner stole a single egg from a Robin's nest. Jennie now is trying to mother an infant much larger than herself.

Can Retain Bishops Longer Than 8 Years

M. E. Church Conference Also Rules Bishops Can Be Removed if Work Not Satisfactory.

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—The Methodist Episcopal conference here today adopted two resolutions, one of which affects the Bishops of the church, while the other deals with new members joining the church.

By the action on the first resolution, Bishops now may be removed from areas if their work is not satisfactory or they may be retained longer than the eight-year period to which they formerly have been assigned.

The second resolution changes church discipline and requires that new members shall sign a membership register.

American Golfers Start Out Strong

"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn Leads in Opening Round of British Championship With Sarazen Second.

Sandwich, England, May 9.—Following the footsteps of Robert Tyre Jones of Atlanta, twice winner of the British open golf championship, leading American contenders for this year's title went to the fore in the first round of the championship proper today.

With "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn showing the way and swarthy little Gene Sarazen at his heels, the professionals from the United States outshone their British rivals.

And to prove that all the threat to the title from overseas did not come from North America, little Jose Jurado, the Argentine, was in third place, a stroke ahead of Walter Hagen and the leading British contenders, George Duncan and Archie Compston.

Of the Americans figured as possible winners when the field of 113 set out through a light rain for the first round, Tommy Armour, American open champion, and Jim Barnes, a former British title-holder, did poorly, both taking 81.

Methodists Discuss Election of Bishops

From Four to Six to Be Named Depending Upon Redistricting and Retirements.

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—Speculation among delegates attending the general conference of the Methodist church as the conference moved toward consideration of naming its divines.

The number of bishops to be named will range from four to six, delegates said, but the exact number is not known. Naming of more than four will depend upon whether there will be a redistricting of areas and how many will be retired on account of age or ill health.

Some favor establishment of the residence of a bishop at St. Louis, and this will mean the selection of a new Bishop for the redistricted area. The fate of Bishop Anton Bast of Copenhagen, on trial on charges of irregularities in handling church funds, also may change the number of bishops to be elected, for if he is convicted, a bishop must be named to succeed him.

Several Mentioned.

Several are being mentioned prominently as prospective bishops. Among these are Dr. Ernest C. Wareing, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, Cincinnati, and Dr. Ralph Sockman, pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist church, New York.

Among the Bishops due to retire this year are: Joseph F. Berry, of Philadelphia; Luther B. Wilson, New York; Wilbur P. Thirkield, of Chattanooga; William F. Oldham, Buenos Aires; and Frank A. Warne, Banglore.

A reception to fraternal delegates from British Wesleyan Church and the United Church of Canada, is scheduled for tonight.

Winter Wheat 73.8 Per Cent of Normal

Estimate of Agriculture Department Is That Nearly 12 Million Acres Has Been Abandoned.

Washington, May 9.—The condition of winter wheat on May 1 was 73.8 per cent of normal, indicating a production of 479,086,000 bushels, the agriculture department estimated today.

The department estimated 11,986,000 acres of winter wheat has been abandoned, leaving 35,858,000 acres for harvest.

Condition of the rye crop on May 1 was 73.6 per cent of normal indicating a production of 39,368,000 bushels.

Republicans Again to Talk Redistricting

Jefferson City, Mo., May 9.—Senatorial redistricting will be considered at a meeting of the executive officers and special committee of the Republican editorial association here Saturday. The call of meeting was issued today by Charles W. Fear, secretary, at the direction of Sam A. Clark of Carrollton, president of the association.

The meeting will consider Attorney General North T. Gentry's proposal providing for amending the constitution to provide that any session of the legislature can rearrange the senatorial districts.

Hearings Resumed on Utilities Industry

Federal Trade Commission Activities In Ohio, Georgia and Florida.—$40,000 Lobby Revealed.

Washington, May 9.—Resuming open hearings in its exhaustive investigation of the utilities industry, the Federal Trade commission today questioned utilities men of Ohio, Georgia and Florida.

At previous hearings the commission has delved into publicity activities by utilities groups in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, New Jersey, Massachusetts, West Virginia and the national capital.

Particular attention has been paid the joint committee of national utilities associations, which maintains large offices here and in New York. Evidence presented showed this group had raised more than $400,000 to fight the Walash senate resolution and the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill in congress.

Rural Vote in After Midnight.

It was not until after midnight that any appreciable returns were available from the southern farm areas. These soon put Watson in front, but lacked completeness which might give any indication of the ultimate vote.

There was a possibility that later returns from St. Joseph county, (South Bend); Lake county (Hammond and Gary) and Decatur county (Fort Wayne) might give Hoover a 3 to 1 victory.

The result from early tabulations in Lake county, the heart of the Calumet industrial regions, were strangely in contrast to the vote two years ago which virtually gave Watson victory over Albert Stump in the race for United States Senator.

In the Democratic contest, Evans Woollen, Indianapolis banker, was unopposed for the presidential preference endorsement. He was given all of the reporting counties a heavy endorsement vote.

17 Candidates for Governor.

There were 10 candidates on the Republican nomination for governor, and seven on the Democratic ballot. This further delayed the count over the state.

On the basis of incomplete returns it appeared that the rural vote in most counties was exceptionally heavy.

Need 30,000 Berry Pickers.

Jefferson City.—After a complete survey of the strawberry crop in Southwest Missouri, it has been estimated that 30,000 extra pickers will be required to harvest the crop.

PRIORITY TO FEW CLAIMS

Louis, a correspondent bank, draft for $64.48 and $2.50 protest fees.

Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis, two cashiers checks of $6.20 each.

City of Maryville water department, time certificate of $2,500.

Claims passed for decision this morning were:

James Smith, C. H. Coe on check for $35; Frank Holt for check for $2.48; Walter S. Todd, R. E. Allen and Charles J. Green and W. O. Green, briefs had not been filed.

In making his decision denying priority to the larger claims of the township, city and school district, the court held that the treasurers of these organizations should have been under bond and that in case of any loss, the deficit should be made good by the bondsmen.

While Judge John M. Dawson was on the bench this morning, the bill of exceptions filed by Cook & Cummins for Thomas Ashbrook, sentenced to forty years for the murder of Dewey Leonard, was filed and signed by the court. The bill of exceptions, which has 427 pages, will be sent to the Supreme court by W. R. Tilson, circuit clerk.

In the partition suit of Guy H. Parker vs. Henry Albright, et al., the report of the sheriff's sale was filed and approved and the purchasers of the land, Henry Albright and Lena Albright, were ordered to be given deeds.

The Campaign Log

By United Press

The Indiana primary, for which Herbert Hoover and Senator James E. Watson had made vigorous campaigns for the state's delegation of thirty-three to the Republican national convention, apparently resulted in one of the greatest primary votes in the state's history. Lead between Hoover and Watson fluctuated. Early returns from industrial districts gave Hoover the lead, but later rural returns gave the advantage to Watson. It may be some time before the tabulation is completed and the outcome made known. Evans Woollen, Indianapolis banker, was the only one entered on the Democratic presidential ballot.

Anti-Smith candidates for delegates at large from Alabama to the Democratic national convention were in the lead after the state primary. It was indicated the state would send an uninstructed delegation to House.

The Deleware state Democratic convention voted to send an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic national convention. The six delegates, however, were said to be favorable to Governor Smith.

Twenty-six of the Democratic county conventions in South Carolina—at which delegates were chosen for the state convention—adopted resolutions either against the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith as a Democratic presidential nominee or against any wet candidate.

Reports from most of the Texas Democratic county conventions—at which delegates were chosen for the state convention—said there was a general sentiment for insertion of a dry plank in the state Democratic platform and also a sentiment favoring a dry Democratic presidential candidate.

PETITION FOR BAND IS FILED

REQUEST FOR VOTE ON TAX HAS 105 SIGNATURES.

COUNCIL TO ACT SOON

Ordinance to Be Drawn by City Attorney.—More Signers Than Needed.

A petition signed by 105 electors of Maryville, requested the city council to call a special election for submitting the proposition of voting a 1 mill tax for a band fund, was filed at the city hall today by Ed Arnold and Guy Mercer.

The city council will take action on the petition as soon as an ordinance is drafted by the city attorney, A. F. Harvey, and it has time to go through the regular procedure of introduction and passage by the council, Mayor W. O. Garrett said.

Ten per cent of the qualified electors in the last election for mayor are required on such a petition, and the necessary number of signers would have been only ninety-six.

The petition reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, being at least 10 per cent of the resident and qualified electors of the city of Maryville, do hereby petition the mayor and city council to call a special municipal election for the purpose of submitting to the electors the proposition of levying a tax of one (1) mill on each one dollar assessed valuation on all property, both real and personal, in the city of Maryville for the purpose of creating a band fund, all as provided by an act passed by the fifty-fourth general assembly of the state of Missouri entitled: 'An act providing for the levying of a tax for the purpose of creating a band fund in cities, villages and towns having a population of less than 25,000 and providing for an election for that purpose'."

The signers of the petition:

Funeral for Parnell Man Is Held Today

The funeral for B. C. Scovel of Parnell was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the M. E. Church. Burial was at the Parnell cemetery.

Scovel came to his death by his own hands with suicidal intent by drinking strychnine, Dr. Frank Wallis, coroner, said after a view inquest held yesterday afternoon.

Scovel had purchased the poison at a Parnell drug store, giving his reason for purchasing the strychnine that he was going to kill rats. He bought an eighth of a dram. Dr. Wallis did not know how much of the poison he had taken. A pop bottle was found by his side, indicating he had used the beverage to wash down the poison.

No immediate motive could be learned which might have caused the restaurant man to commit the act, Dr. Wallis said. However, from information he could learn at Parnell it was thought business troubles were responsible.

Scovel was found by W. I. Burns in an implement building on the west edge of Parnell shortly before noon yesterday. A physician was called but Scovel was in convulsions by the time he arrived.

Knabb Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Frank Knabb, who died yesterday morning at his home here, will be held at the Christian church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. J. T. Alsup will conduct the service. Burial will be made in Miriam cemetery.

FILING TIME UP SOON

Period in Which Candidates May Announce Will Expire June 6.—Nine County Offices.

Notice of the primary election to be held in the several precincts of Nodaway county on August 7 was given today by Fred Wright, county clerk.

Twenty-three offices are to be filled at the general election in November, the notice stated, and of this number nine are purely Nodaway county offices. Candidates for these offices will be chosen at the August primary and the last day for filing is June 6, unless otherwise changed by the secretary of state, Mr. Wright stated today.

The county offices for which candidates will be chosen are: Member of the house of representatives, judges of the county court from the north and south districts, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, treasurer, public administrator, coroner and surveyor.

The notice also states that the committeemen from the various townships will be voted on at this time.

To date the sheriff's office seems to be most desired with seven filing for the nomination, two Republicans and five Democrats. As yet no candidates have filed for public administrator, coroner or surveyor.

Other offices, somewhat local in aspect, for which candidates will be voted on at the primaries, are the judge of the circuit court of the fourth judicial district and state senator of the first district. Judge John M. Dawson already has announced his candidacy for re-election and it is understood it will be only a matter of a few days before Senator M. E. Ford files for re-election.

The state officers to be voted on are senator in congress, governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general, judge of the supreme court, division one, judge of the St. Louis court of appeals, judge of the Kansas City court of appeals, and representative to congress from the fourth congressional district.

At Work on Another Play at Conception

"Believe Me, Xantippe," to Be Presented May 17 and 20 in the Parish Hall.

Members of the Conception College dramatic club are working on a play, "Believe Me Xantippe," to be presented May 17 in the Parish Hall at Conception and again on the following Sunday.

The play is a modern, four-act comedy drama, with the story that of a rich New Yorker who, responding to the call of adventure, enters upon a gambling proposition and as a result finds himself in a small county jail in Colorado.

The College choral club will make its first appearance of the year, and the College band also will play.

The cast follows:

George MacFarland, age 28, New York clubman; Charles Downey.

Simp Calloway, age 35, typical Western desperado; John Ready.

Arthur Sole, age 45, detective; Thomas Crowell.

Thornton Brown, age 30, jovial young lawyer; Fred Mench.

Buck Kamman, age 50, Colorado sheriff; Edgar Huber.

William, age 35, stocial valet to MacFarland; Joseph Lorenz.

Uncle Ben, lovable old gentleman; Donald Hughes.

Moonlit Bill, breezy and slangy, George Kemper.

Dolly Kamman, age 18; Wilbur Heekin.

Rev. Guy L. Prather Speaks at College

"The Inquiring Heart" Is Subject of Talk Given Students This Morning.

The Rev. Guy L. Prather, pastor of the First Baptist Church, appeared for the first time before the student body of the State Teachers College this morning in an address, "The Inquiring Heart," which was enthusiastically received by the audience.

The Rev. Mr. Prather talked of the constant inquiry into the unknown and the future, touching upon the relation between science and religion, emphasizing the fact that freedom to investigate constitutes the means toward progress.

"We see this inquiry as general and universal," the Reverend Mr. Prather said. "In the many different creeds of the world, many truths may be found, but when we resort to comparison between the progress of the christianized countries and those of other beliefs, we can not help placing a stronger faith in Christianity," he added.

With a group of questions, which he said some time comes into the hearts of all, Mr. Prather closed his talk. Among these were: "What is God?" "What are His demands?" "Is He near?" "What about my sin and evil?" "Is the Bible the word of God?" "Its miracles, do they harmonize?"

Pastor at Graham Gives Talk to Hi-Y

Rev. Ralph Hicks Tells Values of Hi-Y Work This Morning.—Graduation Next Week.

The Hi-Y Club of the Maryville high school was addressed this morning by the Rev. Ralph Hicks of Graham, who pointed out the values to be found in Hi-Y work.

The Reverend Mr. Hicks, who helped build up a strong movement in Kansas City, related some of his own experiences.

The Hi-Y graduation will be held next week, at which time diplomas and New Testaments will be awarded.

Bankers Bow to Printers in First Twilight Baseball Game

Hard slugging by the whole team and the spectacular fielding of Carl Vanscoy in the center garden enabled the Printers easily to wallop the Bankers 14 to 6 on the State Teachers College diamond yesterday afternoon in an eight-inning baseball game, the first of the twilight season.

The bankers were decidedly in favor of a nine-inning game until they faced the bullet-like offerings of A. Kill in the last three innings, and, with the sun getting low, called it a day after they had their last bats.

Cool-headed Jim Cummings started on the mound for the Ink Slingers. He held the Money Changers scoreless in the first two innings and allowed only one run in the third. Kenneth Lawrence Frankhouse was the starting moundsmen for the interest compilers and did fairly well until the second frame when the Printers took to his offerings and batted him off the mound. The Bankers had a dark-horse they pulled in from the field to continue the pitching in one Ernie Ellis, who mowed the Printers down in rapid order. But he came to the rescue of his fellow discounters too late, as the Journalists had chalked up nine runs before the slaughter in the second inning was stopped.

Stanfield, Johnson and Kill took their turns on the rubber for the Typos, holding the Bankers to two runs in the fourth, one in the sixth and two in the seventh. The only casualties resulted when Red Masters, trying to make second base, butted Rollie Curnutt nearly off the field, and when Lefty John Johnston, of the Printers hurling staff attempted to swallow the Bearcat's 16-pound shot.

The Bankers went home saying, "Oh, well, we had to lose in order to get any publicity," but they are welcome to try their luck again. The incomplete box score:

BANKERS

PRINTERS

Lawrence Masters, left field, one run; Johnston, second base and pitcher, one run; Doffing, third base and catcher, three runs; A. Kill, shortstop and pitcher, one run; Stanfield, catcher, pitcher, first base, two runs; Barrett, right field, one run; Krause, first base, one run; Mahan, first base; Van Cleve, second base, one run; Vanscoy, center field, two runs; Cummings, pitcher, one run.

Stanfield, star proofreader, was the batting star of the game, driving in five runs and making four hits in five times at the bat. He hit a single, double, triple and a homer, besides driving a long fly to Teller Davis, who camped under it and then sent it back like a "wooden" check.

Score by innings:

Bankers	001	201	20—	6
Printers	009	020	03—	14

Home runs, Stanfield. Groves got a three bagger and on an error stretched it to a homer.

Comment: The Bankers claim they lost because Arch Frank was not on hand to rattle the opposing pitchers. The Bankers talked the Printers out of a run in the eighth inning and their addition was terrible, when it came to the number of outs on the Printers side.

P. S. An indoor baseball was used.

GIRL ALONE

COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE

ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD is "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON, farmer, the summer she is 16 and leaves the orphanage, the only home she knows from the time she is four. She meets DAVID NASH, athletic and student of scientific farming, who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. David likes the orphan, openly prefering her to PEARL, Carson's daughter. This angers Pearl and Carson.

David and Sally, fearing Carson is dead, run away. At daylight they find themselves near a carnival train. Sally is overjoyed to find EDDIE COBB, former inmate of the Home, who runs away to join the carnival. He asks WINFIELD BYBEE, owner of the carnival, to make a place for them. David is placed in the cook's car, while MRS. BYBEE, the real manager of the carnival, dresses Sally in satin trousers and tunic and sends her on the platform as Princess Lalla, crystal gazer.

The midget, "PITTY SING," asks Sally to carry her to the car for supper and as she trips along with the little woman, she catches sight of the headlines on the midget's newspaper. The story of David's fight with aCrson is told in big headlines. Sally runs to show David the lie that is being published. As Sally leaves the kitchen she runs into Winfield Bybee and his wife. They ask her to join them at supper. Sally tells Mrs. Bybee all she knows about her mother and that she lived at one time in Stanton, the town they are now in. Mrs. Bybee agrees to go scouting the next morning to see what she can learn.

That night in the dress tent Nita comes in. When Sally speaks to her, she cuts her short and tells her she knows who she is well enough. Bending menacingly over Sally, she demands: "Do you want me to tip off the police? Well, then, if you don't listen—and get it good, all of it!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 18

Four girls, two of them thin to emaciation, one over-fat, the fourth as beautifully shaped as a Greek statue, trailed dispiritedly into the dress tent, their hands groping to unfasten the snaps of their soiled silk chorus-girl costumes.

Their heavily rogued and powdered faces were drawn with fatigue; their eyes like burnt holes in once-gay blankets. Sally had watched them dance, enviously, between her own performances, had heard the barker ballyhooing them as: "Bybee's Follies Girls, straight from Broadway and on their way back to join their pals in Ziegfeld's Follies."

Now, weary unto death after 18 performances, the "Follies" girls shuffled on aching feet to their cots and seated themselves with groans and dispirited curses, paying not the faintest attention to the tense tableau presented by Nita, the "Hula" dancer, and the girl they knew as "Princess Lalla."

Sally's frightened eyes fluttered from one to another of that be-draggled, pathetic quartet, but she might as well have appealed to the gaudily painted banners that fluttered over the deserted booths outside.

"What do you want, Nita?" she whispered, moistening her dry lips and twisting her little brown-painted hands together.

"I'll tell you fast enough!" Nita snarled, thrusting her face close to Sally's. "I want you to give that shiek of yours the gate—get me? Ditch him, shake him, and I don't mean maybe!"

For the third time that day Sally was having David Nash, the only friend she had ever made outside the orphanage, thrown into her face as a sweetheart or worse. Winfield Bybee's casual words to his wife—"Can't you see she's clear gone on that Dave chap of hers?"—had made her heart beat fast with a queer, suffocating kind of pleasure, a pleasure she had never before experienced in her life. Those words had somehow initiated her into young ladyhood, fraught with strange, lovely privileges, among them the right to be "clear gone" on a man—a man like David! The midget's "your David" and "Of course you're in love with him, and he's crazy about you—a blind person could see that," had sent her heart soaring to heaven, like a toy balloon accidentally released from a child's clutch.

But Nita's "that shiek of yours," Nita's venomously spat command, "give him the gate, ditch him, shake him," aroused in her a sudden blind fury, a fury as intense as Nita's.

"I'll do no such thing! David's mine, as long as he wants to be! You have no right to dictate to me!"

"Is that so?" Nita straightened, hands digging into her hips, a toss of her ragged, badly curled blond head emphasizing her sarcasm. "Is that so? Maybe you'll think I had some right when the cops tap you on the shoulder tomorrow! Too bad you and your David can't share a suite in the county jail together!"

"You'd—you'd do that—to David, too?" Sally whispered over cold lips.

"I thought that'd get under your skin!" Nita laughed harshly. Then, as though the interview was successfully concluded, from her standpoint, the red-painted nails of her claw-like hands began to pick at the fastening of her grass skirt.

Sally was turning away blindly, feeling like a small, trapped animal, when a tiny, shrill voice came from the midget's cot:

"I heard every word you said, Nita! I think you must have gone crazy. The heat affects some like this, but I never saw it strike a carnival trouper quite so bad—"

"You shut up, you little double-crossing runt!" Nita whirled toward the midget's bed.

"I may be a runt," the midget's voice shrilled, "but I'm in full possession of my faculties. And when I tell Winfield Bybee the threats you've made against this poor child, you'll find yourself stranded in Stanton without even a grass skirt to earn a living with. And if the carnival grapevine is still working, you'll find that no other show in the country will take you on. It will be back to the hash joints for you, Nita, and I for one think the carnival will be a neater, sweeter place without you. Get your makeup off and get into bed, Sally. And don't worry. Nita wouldn't have dared try to bluff a real trouper like that."

"For Gawd's sake, are you-all going to jay all night?" a weary voice, with a flat, southern drawl demanded indignantly. "I've got some important sleeping to do, if I'm going to show tomorrow. Gawd, I'm so tired my bones are cracking wide open!"

"Shut up yourself!" Nita snarled, slouching down upon the camp stool beside her trunk, to remove her make-up. "You hoofers don't know what tired means. If you had to jelly all day like I do—Oh, Gawd! what a life What a life! You're right, midge! It sure gets you—18 shows a day and this hell-fired heat."

It was Nita's surrender, or at least her pretended surrender, to the law of the carnival—live and let live; ask no questions and answer none.

In the thick silence that followed Sally tremblingly seated herself before her trunk and smeared her neck, face, arms and hands with theatrical cold cream. She was conscious that other weary girls drifted in—"the girl nobody can lift," the albino girl, whose pink eyes were shaded with big blue goggles; the two diving girls, looking as if their diet of soda pop and bananas eaten under water did not agree with them. But she was aware of them rather than saw them. Stray bits of their conversation forced through her own conflicting thoughts and emotions—

"Where's my rabbit foot? Gawd, I've lost my rabbit foot! That means a run of bad luck, sure—"

—n' I says, 'Blow, you crazy rube. Whaddye take me for'?"

"Good pickings! If this keeps up I'll be able to grab my cakes in the privilege car—sold 58 postcards today—"

"Whaddye know? Gus the barker's fell something fierce for the new kid. 'N they say Pop Bybee's got her on percentage, as well as 12 bucks per and cakes. Some guys has all the luck—"

"Who's the sheik in the privelege car? Don't look like no K. P. to me. Boy Howdy! Hear you already staked your claim, Nita. Who is he? Millionaire's son gettin' an eyeful of life in raw?"

She knew that Nita did not answer, at least not in words. Gradually talk died down; weary bodies stretched their aching length upon hard, sagging cots. Someone turned out the sputtering gas jet that had ineffectually illuminated the dress tent. Groans subsided into snores or whistling, adenoidal breathing. A sudden breeze tugged at the loose sides of the tent, slapping the canvas loudly against the wooden stakes that held it down.

Although she was so tired that her muscles quivered and jerked spasmodically, Sally found that she could not sleep. As if her mind were a motion-picture screen, the events of the day marched past, in very bad sequence, like an unassembled film. She saw her own small figure flitting across the screen, fantastically clad in purple satin trousers and green jacket, her face and arms brown as an Indian's, her eyes shielded by a little black lace veil. Crowds of farmers, their wives, their children; small-town business men, their wives and gigling daughters and goggle-eyed sons, avid for a glimpse of the naughtiness which the barker promised behind the tent flap of the "girlie show", pressed in upon her, receded, pressed again, thrust out quarters, demanded magic visions of her—

David, his eyes streaming with onion tears, smiling at her. David reading that dreadful newspaper story—David of yesterday, saying, "Dear little Sally!" pressing her against him for a blessed minute—

David, David! The movie stopped with a jerk, then resolved itself into an enormous "close-up" of David Nash, his eyes smiling into hers with infinite gentleness and tenderness.

"Does he think I'm just a little girl, too young to—to be in love or to be loved?" she asked herself, audacious in the dark. "If—if he was at all in love with me—but oh, he couldn't be!—would he be so friendly and easy with me? Wouldn't he be embarrassed, and blush, and—and things like that? Oh; I'm just being silly! He doesn't think of me at all except as a little girl who's in trouble. A girl alone, as he calls me."

Then a new memory banished even the "close-up" of David on the screen of her mind—a memory called up by those words—"girl alone." She felt that she ought to weep with shame and contrition because she had so long half-forgotten Mrs. Bybee's promise to make inquiries about her mother—the mother who had given her to the orphanage 12 years before, leaving behind her only a meager record—"Mrs. Nora Ford, aged 28."

So little in those words with which to conjure up a mother! She would be 40 now, if—if she were still alive! Suddenly all her 12 years of orphanhood, of longing for a mother, even for a mother who would desert her child and go away without a word, rushed over Sally like an avalanche of bruising stones. Every hurt she had sustained during all those 12 motherless years throbbed with fresh violence; drew hard tears that dripped upon the lumpy cotton pillow beneath her tossing head.

When the paroxysm of weeping had somewhat subsided she crept out of her cot and knelt beside it and prayed.

Then she crept back into bed, unconscious that the midget was still awake and had seen her duly in the darkness. Strangely free of her burdens, Sally lay for a long time before sleep claimed her, trying to remember all the instructions about crystal-gazing that Mrs. Bybee had heaped upon her. And in her childish conscience there was no twinge of remorse that she was to go on the next day, deceiving the public, as "Princess Lalla, favorite crystal-gazer of the Sultan of Turkey."

(To Be Continued.)

80 Gallons Alcohol in Women's Wrecked Car

Olathe, Kan., May 9.—Two women were held in jail here after officers found eighty gallons of alleged alcohol in their wrecked automobile near here. The women are Miss Clara Campbell and Miss Muriel Mudge, both of Garden City, Kan. According to authorities the women said the alcohol was "strictly for their own use."

Dr. O. A. Johnson

at St. Joseph Thursday

Eminent Rectal Specialist and Ambulant Proctologist at Robidoux Hotel from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday, May 10.

Free Examination and Consulation

Cures Piles Without Surgery

Sufferers from piles or other rectal troubles in Maryville and vicinity will have a convenient opportunity to consult Dr. O. A. Johnson, the well-known rectal specialist of Kansas City next Thursday, as on that day he will be in St. Joseph from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night at the Robidoux Hotel and will personally examine any rectal sufferer who calls on him. He makes absolutely no charge for this examination and obligates you in no way.

Dr. Johnson uses with amazing success the ambulant method of curing piles. Over 15,000 people have been cured by this non-surgical treatment. He does not use surgery, acids, cautery, electricity or any other harsh, drastic treatment. There is no confinement to room or bed, or loss of time from home or work, no hospital fee. Pain, bleeding and protrosusions are usually allayed with the very first treatment. With just a few more mild treatments, your piles are entirely removed and cured. So sure is Dr. Johnson that his method will cure you that he guarantees the refund of his moderate fee if you are not cured. So sure is he that your cure is permanent that he further guarantees to treat you as long as he lives free, should your piles ever come back again. Curing the piles also cures other reflex ailments they cause, such as nervousness, constipation, liver, stomach, intestinal and kidney troubles, indigestion, pains in back, groin, etc.

Don't miss this opportunity to consult this well-known specialist as it will be the last visit Dr. Johnson will make to St. Joseph until fall. There are many men and women living in and near St. Joseph whom he has cured and who are loud in their praises of his treatment. He will gladly give you their names, addresses and phone numbers and have you ask them about his treatment. Remember the place and date, Robidoux Hotel, St. Joseph, Thursday, May 10, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Ask the clerk at the desk for Dr. Johnson's suite. He will have a woman nurse with him for women patients. If you cannot call, write his office, 1324 Main St. Dept., in Kansas City, Mo., for his free book on piles.

"Oh-Mother! Is it really mine?"

SHEER happiness! A Mother's experience as she gives her daughter that beautiful new piano for her very own. What a companion . . . what an inspiration in the years to come!

From many she has chosen this one piano . . . the gift of a lifetime. Experience in buying smaller things . . . comparing . . . selecting . . . had helped her in making this important purchase. A woman's inherent trait to first compare in buying any article, large or small.

Comparison is also very helpful in selecting the one coffee you like best.

Taste-tempting . . . palate-pleasing . . . the marvelous, unmatched flavor of Folger's Coffee delights the most discriminating people. Folger's makes the perfect cup of coffee. It is the supreme of the world's coffees.

Compare Folger's Coffee by making the famous Folger Coffee Test.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

Kills His Stepfather to Save His Mother

Marshal Overby, 18, Bloomfield, Mo., Gives Self Up, Saying He Shot to Stop Beating.

Blomfield, Mo., May 9.—Killing his stepfather to save his mother from harm, Marshal Overby, 18 years old, gave himself up to authorities a few minutes later.

The boy said he shot his stepfather, Sam Ireland, 40, twice with a revolver when Ireland came home drunk and began beating her.

"I tried to stop him, but he wouldn't quit, so I shot him," Overby told authorities.

More Meat Animals Marketed in 1927

Jefferson City, Mo., May 9.—Missouri farmers in 1927 marketed more head of meat animals than in 1926, E. A. Logan of the United States bureau of agricultural economics, and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri state board of agriculreported today.

The figure for 1927 was 6,371,558 head and for 1926, 5,899,226 head.

Divided into groups, the figures showed decreases of eight and four per cent in the marketing of cattle and calves.

Twelve per cent more hogs and twelve per cent more sheep were marketed, however, the figures showed.

Four Kansas City Bond Issues Carry

Seven Are Defeated and One Is in Doubt.—Kidnaped Machine Workers Released.

Kansas City, May 9.—Four of the city-county improvement bond proposals were swept to victory yesterday, while one bond issue yet is in the doubtful column, pending official returns. Seven bond proposals were defeated.

The successful proposals were: county highway system of 6½ million dollars; municipal wharf of one-half million dollars; county hospital of one-half million dollars; Swope Park of one-fourth million dollars.

The 3-million-dollar water system improvement and extension proposal lacked only 178 votes and was expected to have a chance to go over on the official count.

Proposals that were short of the necessary two-thirds majority in the late returns were: Airport purchase, Blue River improvement, trafficways, city hall, city auditorium and Kansas City and Independence, Mo., courthouses.

A heavy vote was cast, more than 80,000 persons going to the polls.

Four machine workers were kidnaped, beaten, held for the day and then released.

Kidnapings Investigated.

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—The task of determining the identity of kidnapers who kept five north side politicians in capitivity during the special election here yesterday faced chief of detectives Toyne today.

Justice Frank Benanti, Joe Gallucci, Marion Nigro, Louis Mazuch and Ben Ryan, all ward politicians, were the victims. None of them recognized their abductors, who were masked.

Adhesive tape was placed over their eyes and they spent the day in a dark room. After the voting places closed last night the men were released.

Two detectives were assigned to investigate the case. Chief Toyne believes the kidnapers were from out of town.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, May 9.—Nervous trading characterized by a sharp break at the close, featured the wheat pit on the board of trade today, with traders awaiting the government report due this afternoon.

Corn broke with wheat but oats held early gains due to their own strength. Closing prices found wheat off 1⅝c to 2¼c; corn down ⅝c to 1c and oats up ½c to ⅝c.

Provisions were lower.

The wheat market was nervous throughout the day with buyers backing away when selling appeared. Tallies were frequent. Trading was quiet with traders waiting for the government report due this afternoon. No export business was reported. The cash market was ½c to 1c lower with receipts of 88 cars.

The corn market was quiet and there was no news of significance. Prices followed wheat. Receipts were smaller than expected, 238 cars, and the cash market was ½c higher.

Oats showed strength and the weekly report out today was bullish in tone. The cash market was unchanged. Receipts were 69 cars.

St. Louis Produce.

St. Louis, May 9.—Eggs 25c to 27½c; butter, extras, 45c; standards, 44c; firsts, 40c.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD is "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON, farmer, the summer she is 16 and leaves the orphanage, the only home she knows from the time she is four. She meets DAVID NASH, athletic and student of scientific farming, who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. David likes the orphan, openly prefering her to PEARL, Carson's daughter. This angers Pearl and Carson.

David and Sally, fearing Carson is dead, run away. At daylight they find themselves near a carnival train. Sally is overjoyed to find EDDIE COBB, former inmate of the Home, who runs away to join the carnival. He asks WINFIELD BYBEE, owner of the carnival, to make a place for them. David is placed in the cook's car, while MRS. BYBEE, the real manager of the carnival, dresses Sally in satin trousers and tunic and sends her on the platform as Princess Lalla, crystal gazer.

The midget, "PITTY SING," asks Sally to carry her to the car for supper and as she trips along with the little woman, she catches sight of the headlines on the midget's newspaper. The story of David's fight with aCrson is told in big headlines. Sally runs to show David the lie that is being published. As Sally leaves the kitchen she runs into Winfield Bybee and his wife. They ask her to join them at supper. Sally tells Mrs. Bybee all she knows about her mother and that she lived at one time in Stanton, the town they are now in. Mrs. Bybee agrees to go scouting the next morning to see what she can learn.

That night in the dress tent Nita comes in. When Sally speaks to her, she cuts her short and tells her she knows who she is well enough. Bending menacingly over Sally, she demands: "Do you want me to tip off the police? Well, then, if you don't listen—and get it good, all of it!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 18

Four girls, two of them thin to emaciation, one over-fat, the fourth as beautifully shaped as a Greek statue, trailed dispiritedly into the dress tent, their hands groping to unfasten the snaps of their soiled silk chorus-girl costumes.

Their heavily rogued and powdered faces were drawn with fatigue; their eyes like burnt holes in once-gay blankets. Sally had watched them dance, enviously, between her own performances, had heard the barker ballyhooing them as: "Bybee's Follies Girls, straight from Broadway and on their way back to join their pals in Ziegfeld's Follies."

Now, weary unto death after 18 performances, the "Follies" girls shuffled on aching feet to their cots and seated themselves with groans and dispirited curses, paying not the faintest attention to the tense tableau presented by Nita, the "Hula" dancer, and the girl they knew as "Princess Lalla."

Sally's frightened eyes fluttered from one to another of that be-draggled, pathetic quartet, but she might as well have appealed to the gaudily painted banners that fluttered over the deserted booths outside.

"I'll tell you fast enough!" Nita snarled, thrusting her face close to Sally's. "I want you to give that shiek of yours the gate—get me? Ditch him, shake him, and I don't mean maybe!"

For the third time that day Sally was having David Nash, the only friend she had ever made outside the orphanage, thrown into her face as a sweetheart or worse. Winfield Bybee's casual words to his wife—"Can't you see she's clear gone on that Dave chap of hers?"—had made her heart beat fast with a queer, suffocating kind of pleasure, a pleasure she had never before experienced in her life. Those words had somehow initiated her into young ladyhood, fraught with strange, lovely privileges, among them the right to be "clear gone" on a man—a man like David! The midget's "your David" and "Of course you're in love with him, and he's crazy about you—a blind person could see that," had sent her heart soaring to heaven, like a toy balloon accidentally released from a child's clutch.

But Nita's "that shiek of yours," Nita's venomously spat command, "give him the gate, ditch him, shake him," aroused in her a sudden blind fury, a fury as intense as Nita's.

"I'll do no such thing! David's mine, as long as he wants to be! You have no right to dictate to me!"

"Is that so?" Nita straightened, hands digging into her hips, a toss of her ragged, badly curled blond head emphasizing her sarcasm. "Is that so? Maybe you'll think I had some right when the cops tap you on the shoulder tomorrow! Too bad you and your David can't share a suite in the county jail together!"

"You'd—you'd do that—to David, too?" Sally whispered over cold lips.

"I thought that'd get under your skin!" Nita laughed harshly. Then, as though the interview was successfully concluded, from her standpoint, the red-painted nails of her claw-like hands began to pick at the fastening of her grass skirt.

Sally was turning away blindly, feeling like a small, trapped animal, when a tiny, shrill voice came from the midget's cot:

"I heard every word you said, Nita! I think you must have gone crazy. The heat affects some like this, but I never saw it strike a carnival trouper quite so bad—"

"You shut up, you little double-crossing runt!" Nita whirled toward the midget's bed.

"I may be a runt," the midget's voice shrilled, "but I'm in full possession of my faculties. And when I tell Winfield Bybee the threats you've made against this poor child, you'll find yourself stranded in Stanton without even a grass skirt to earn a living with. And if the carnival grapevine is still working, you'll find that no other show in the country will take you on. It will be back to the hash joints for you, Nita, and I for one think the carnival will be a neater, sweeter place without you. Get your makeup off and get into bed, Sally. And don't worry. Nita wouldn't have dared try to bluff a real trouper like that."

"For Gawd's sake, are you-all going to jay all night?" a weary voice, with a flat, southern drawl demanded indignantly. "I've got some important sleeping to do, if I'm going to show tomorrow. Gawd, I'm so tired my bones are cracking wide open!"

"Shut up yourself!" Nita snarled, slouching down upon the camp stool beside her trunk, to remove her make-up. "You hoofers don't know what tired means. If you had to jelly all day like I do—Oh, Gawd! what a life What a life! You're right, midge! It sure gets you—18 shows a day and this hell-fired heat."

It was Nita's surrender, or at least her pretended surrender, to the law of the carnival—live and let live; ask no questions and answer none.

In the thick silence that followed Sally tremblingly seated herself before her trunk and smeared her neck, face, arms and hands with theatrical cold cream. She was conscious that other weary girls drifted in—"the girl nobody can lift," the albino girl, whose pink eyes were shaded with big blue goggles; the two diving girls, looking as if their diet of soda pop and bananas eaten under water did not agree with them. But she was aware of them rather than saw them. Stray bits of their conversation forced through her own conflicting thoughts and emotions—

"Where's my rabbit foot? Gawd, I've lost my rabbit foot! That means a run of bad luck, sure—"

—n' I says, 'Blow, you crazy rube. Whaddye take me for?'"

"Good pickings! If this keeps up I'll be able to grab my cakes in the privilege car—sold 58 postcards today—"

"Whaddye know? Gus the barker's fell something fierce for the new kid. 'N they say Pop Bybee's got her on percentage, as well as 12 bucks per and cakes. Some guys has all the luck—"

"Who's the sheik in the privelege car? Don't look like no K. P. to me. Boy Howdy! Hear you already staked your claim, Nita. Who is he? Millionaire's son gettin' an eyeful of life in raw?"

She knew that Nita did not answer, at least not in words. Gradually talk died down; weary bodies stretched their aching length upon hard, sagging cots. Someone turned out the sputtering gas jet that had ineffectually illuminated the dress tent. Groans subsided into snores or whistling, adenoidal breathing. A sudden breeze tugged at the loose sides of the tent, slapping the canvas loudly against the wooden stakes that held it down.

Although she was so tired that her muscles quivered and jerked spasmodically, Sally found that she could not sleep. As if her mind were a motion-picture screen, the events of the day marched past, in very bad sequence, like an unassembled film. She saw her own small figure flitting across the screen, fantastically clad in purple satin trousers and green jacket, her face and arms brown as an Indian's, her eyes shielded by a little black lace veil. Crowds of farmers, their wives, their children; small-town business men, their wives and gigling daughters and goggle-eyed sons, avid for a glimpse of the naughtiness which the barker promised behind the tent flap of the "girlie show", pressed in upon her, receded, pressed again, thrust out quarters, demanded magic visions of her—

David, his eyes streaming with onion tears, smiling at her. David reading that dreadful newspaper story—David of yesterday, saying, "Dear little Sally!" pressing her against him for a blessed minute—

David, David! The movie stopped with a jerk, then resolved itself into an enormous "close-up" of David Nash, his eyes smiling into hers with infinite gentleness and tenderness.

"Does he think I'm just a little girl, too young to—to be in love or to be loved?" she asked herself, audacious in the dark. "If—if he was at all in love with me—but oh, he couldn't be! —would he be so friendly and easy with me? Wouldn't he be embarrassed, and blush, and—and things like that? Oh; I'm just being silly! He doesn't think of me at all except as a little girl who's in trouble. A girl alone, as he calls me."

Then a new memory banished even the "close-up" of David on the screen of her mind—a memory called up by those words—"girl alone." She felt that she ought to weep with shame and contrition because she had so long half-forgotten Mrs. Bybee's promise to make inquiries about her mother—the mother who had given her to the orphanage 12 years before, leaving behind her only a meager record—"Mrs. Nora Ford, aged 28."

So little in those words with which to conjure up a mother! She would be 40 now, if—if she were still alive! Suddenly all her 12 years of orphanhood, of longing for a mother, even for a mother who would desert her child and go away without a word, rushed over Sally like an avalanche of bruising stones. Every hurt she had sustained during all those 12 motherless years throbbed with fresh violence; drew hard tears that dripped upon the lumpy cotton pillow beneath her tossing head.

When the paroxysm of weeping had somewhat subsided she crept out of her cot and knelt beside it and prayed.

Then she crept back into bed, unconscious that the midget was still awake and had seen her duly in the darkness. Strangely free of her burdens, Sally lay for a long time before sleep claimed her, trying to remember all the instructions about crystal-gazing that Mrs. Bybee had heaped upon her. And in her childish conscience there was no twinge of remorse that she was to go on the next day, deceiving the public, as "Princess Lalla, favorite crystal-gazer of the Sultan of Turkey."

(To Be Continued.)

Dr. O. A. Johnson
at St. Joseph Thursday

Eminent Rectal Specialist and Ambulant Proctologist at Robidoux Hotel from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday, May 10.

Free Examination and Consulation

Cures Piles Without Surgery

Sufferers from piles or other rectal troubles in Maryville and vicinity will have a convenient opportunity to consult Dr. O. A. Johnson, the well-known rectal specialist of Kansas City next Thursday, as on that day he will be in St. Joseph from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night at the Robidoux Hotel and will personally examine any rectal sufferer who calls on him. He makes absolutely no charge for this examination and obligates you in no way.

Dr. Johnson uses with amazing success the ambulant method of curing piles. Over 15,000 people have been cured by this non-surgical treatment. He does not use surgery, acids, cautery, electricity or any other harsh, drastic treatment. There is no confinement to room or bed, or loss of time from home or work, no hospital fee. Pain, bleeding and protrosusions are usually allayed with the very first treatment. With just a few more mild treatments, your piles are entirely removed and cured. So sure is Dr. Johnson that his method will cure you that he guarantees the refund of his moderate fee if you are not cured. So sure is he that your cure is permanent that he further guarantees to treat you as long as he lives free, should your piles ever come back again. Curing the piles also cures other reflex ailments they cause, such as nervousness, constipation, liver, stomach, intestinal and kidney troubles, indigestion, pains in back, groin, etc.

Don't miss this opportunity to consult this well-known specialist as it will be the last visit Dr. Johnson will make to St. Joseph until fall. There are many men and women living in and near St. Joseph whom he has cured and who are loud in their praises of his treatment. He will gladly give you their names, addresses and phone numbers and have you ask them about his treatment. Remember the place and date, Robidoux Hotel, St. Joseph, Thursday, May 10, from 10 a. m., to 9 p. m. Ask the clerk at the desk for Dr. Johnson's suite. He will have a woman nurse with him for women patients. If you cannot call, write his office, 1324 Main St. Dept., in Kansas City, Mo., for his free book on piles.

"Oh-Mother! Is it really mine?"

SHEER happiness! A Mother's experience as she gives her daughter that beautiful new piano for her very own. What a companion . . . what an inspiration in the years to come!

From many she has chosen this one piano . . . the gift of a lifetime. Experience in buying smaller things . . . comparing . . . selecting . . . had helped her in making this important purchase. A woman's inherent trait to first compare in buying any article, large or small.

Comparison is also very helpful in selecting the one coffee you like best.

Taste-tempting . . . palate-pleasing . . . the marvelous, unmatched flavor of Folger's Coffee delights the most discriminating people. Folger's makes the perfect cup of coffee. It is the supreme of the world's coffees.

Compare Folger's Coffee by making the famous Folger Coffee Test.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

WARNING

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

This is to notify the public that by reason of physical disability I have been compelled for the second time to surrender the active management of my large insurance business.

And have formed a limited copartnership with Judge R. L. McDougal who for more than fifty years has proved himself an honorable and competent business man. He having full power and consent of the Companies to act for me in his own name and over his signature.

May I have the assurance of the cooperation and approval of all friends under my personal management and a host of new clients who desire competency and care in insurance matters under the new management.

Very Truly Yours,
CHAS. HYSLOP.

Kills His Stepfather to Save His Mother

Marshal Overby, 18, Bloomfield, Mo., Gives Self Up, Saying He Shot to Stop Beating.

Blomfield, Mo., May 9.—Killing his stepfather to save his mother from harm, Marshal Overby, 18 years old, gave himself up to authorities a few minutes later.

The boy said he shot his stepfather, Sam Ireland, 40, twice with a revolver when Ireland came home drunk and began beating her.

"I tried to stop him, but he wouldn't quit, so I shot him," Overby told authorities.

More Meat Animals Marketed in 1927

Jefferson City, Mo., May 9.—Missouri farmers in 1927 marketed more head of meat animals than in 1926, E. A. Logan of the United States bureau of agricultural economics, and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri state board of agriculreported today.

The figure for 1927 was 6,371,558 head and for 1926, 5,899,226 head.

Divided into groups, the figures showed decreases of eight and four per cent in the marketing of cattle and calves.

Twelve per cent more hogs and twelve per cent more sheep were marketed, however, the figures showed.

Four Kansas City Bond Issues Carry

Seven Are Defeated and One Is in Doubt.—Kidnaped Machine Workers Released.

Kansas City, May 9.—Four of the city-county improvement bond proposals were swept to victory yesterday, while one bond issue yet is in the doubtful column, pending official returns. Seven bond proposals were defeated.

The successful proposals were: county highway system of 6½ million dollars; municipal wharf of one-half million dollars; county hospital of one-half million dollars; Swope Park of one-fourth million dollars.

The 3-million-dollar water system improvement and extension proposal lacked only 178 votes and was expected to have a chance to go over on the official count.

Proposals that were short of the necessary two-thirds majority in the late returns were: Airport purchase, Blue River improvement, trafficways, city hall, city auditorium and Kansas City and Independence, Mo., courthouses.

A heavy vote was cast, more than 80,000 persons going to the polls.

Four machine workers were kidnaped, beaten, held for the day and then released.

Kidnapings Investigated.

Kansas City, Mo., May 9.—The task of determining the identity of kidnapers who kept five north side politicians in capitivity during the special election here yesterday faced chief of detectives Toyne today.

Justice Frank Benanti, Joe Gallucci, Marion Nigro, Louis Mazuch and Ben Ryan, all ward politicians, were the victims. None of them recognized their abductors, who were masked.

Adhesive tape was placed over their eyes and they spent the day in a dark room. After the voting places closed last night the men were released.

Two detectives were assigned to investigate the case. Chief Toyne believes the kidnapers were from out of town.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, May 9.—Nervous trading characterized by a sharp break at the close, featured the wheat pit on the board of trade today, with traders awaiting the government report due this afternoon.

Corn broke with wheat but oats held early gains due to their own strength. Closing prices found wheat off 1⅝c to 2¼c; corn down ¾c to 1c and oats up ⅛c to ¾c.

Provisions were lower.

The wheat market was nervous throughout the day with buyers backing away when selling appeared. Tallies were frequent. Trading was quiet with traders waiting for the government report due this afternoon. No export business was reported. The cash market was ½c to 1c lower with receipts of 88 cars.

The corn market was quiet and there was no news of significance. Prices followed wheat. Receipts were smaller than expected, 238 cars, and the cash market was ½c higher.

Oats showed strength and the weekly report out today was bullish in tone. The cash market was unchanged. Receipts were 69 cars.

Phone To Mother

Think of the joyous thrill the sound of your voice will bring to her, especially if you're out of town. She'd rather have that than any other gift you could select. And it really isn't expensive.

It is well to remember that there will come a day when we'd give a great deal just to hear Mother's voice over the telephone.

Although it is Now too late to have Your Photograph Made for Mother's Day, It is well to remember that Mother will accept your Picture any time

No one in all the world can take the place, in your heart, of mother. She knows it, of course, but mothers like to be reminded of their children's love—that's why we celebrate Mother's Day.

Custom dictates a gift that will express your thoughtfulness, and nothing could be more thoughtful than the gift of your portrait, made especially for mother.

She will appreciate it more than anything money can buy because it is you—a remembrance to treasure in the hours when she is alone with her thoughts.
